

The Adventures of Terry the Turtle and Gracie the Wonder Dog

Grades K-2

Laurie Dent-Cleveland, Author
Lenore Doyle, Publication Design
Lori Heckman, Illustrator

George Crawford,
Earthquake Program Manager
Barbara Everette Thurman,
Public Education Coordinator

Copyright © 2001
Washington State Military Department
Emergency Management Division
All rights reserved

Shakeyville had a Mayor named Terry the Turtle.

Mayor Terry wanted every citizen of Shakeyville to be ready in case an earthquake happened.

Gracie the Wonder Dog, George, Abbey and Nala care about what happens to the people in Shakeyville. They help teach students about Earthquake Preparedness.

Gracie told the students not to be scared of an earthquake. There was a lot they could do to make their classroom safe.

Gracie asked Mrs. Hillary to remove all the big boxes that were up on the shelves so they wouldn't fall down on the students. Mrs. Hillary began making changes to the classroom right away. All the students helped, except Wellington. He just sat in the chair and watched.

Gracie continued, “Students, watch as Nala teaches you how to Drop, Cover and Hold.”

Nala listened for Gracie to start the earthquake drill by saying, “Earthquake! Drop, Cover and Hold!”

Gracie asked the students if they would like to practice the earthquake drill and “Drop, Cover and Hold.”

They were excited to practice, because now they knew they would be safe when the ground started shaking.

Gracie liked the way Scooter was tucked nice and tight under his desk.

Suddenly, Gracie saw a little boy in the back who didn't want to practice. His name was Wellington.

Gracie said, “Wellington, I hope you are never in an earthquake because you are not prepared. Abbey, Nala and I are very sorry you didn’t practice with the other students.”

Gracie and the Seismic Patrol ended their lesson with the students.

As she was leaving the classroom, Gracie exclaimed, “Remember, if the ground starts to shake, Drop, Cover and Hold.”

It wasn't a moment later when her phone started to bark. Gracie picked up the phone and Mayor Terry the Turtle was on the line.

“Gracie, we need your help!” exclaimed Mayor Terry. “We’ve just had an earthquake in Shakeyville. We need you and the Seismic Patrol to go over to the Shakeyville Elementary School and check on the students. Please make sure no one has been hurt.”

Once Gracie and the Seismic Patrol were in the school, they went to each room in the school.

“Nala and Abbey, you take the rooms on that side of the hallway,” Gracie ordered.

“George and I will take the rooms on this side!”

“Yes, we can help him!” Gracie said.

Gracie sat down on the floor by Wellington, opened up the Disaster Kit she carried on her back, took out a band-aid and covered Wellington’s wound.

“Now, you should feel better,” Gracie said while patting his head.

“Oh Wellington, you should have listened.”

Just then, Nala and Abbey walked into Mrs. Hillary's classroom. "All the students at Shakeyville Elementary School are fine!" Abbey exclaimed.

Gracie and the Seismic Patrol started to walk out the door when Mrs. Hillary's class yelled, "Thank you, Gracie! Thank you, George! Thank you, Nala! Thank you, Abbey!"

Smiling from ear to ear, the Seismic Patrol flew back home to the doghouse to take their much-needed naps.

